

Personal Profile: Anne Solway-Gluck

Over the past 14 years Anne has been working within Training and Development and has extensive knowledge and experience of working with unemployed individuals, placing them into sustainable employment linking in to multi agencies along the way. She has been responsible for designing and implementing training programmes to aid focus, motivation and confidence and has an excellent track record of Employer Engagement. Her current role as Employment and Training Outreach Worker involves her engaging with local employers, looking at their recruitment needs and working with them to deliver pre employment training to allow local unemployed people to access these job opportunities. By using a joined up approach with the employer, Jobcentre Plus and the Learning and Skills Council, Making the Connection are able to link local communities to local employment opportunities.
